Profile Summary

Creative visionary and founder of a purpose-driven startup focused on educational storytelling and digital innovation. A 90s baby with an entrepreneurial spirit, I transitioned from engineering and retail into digital media, content creation, and youth education. I've appeared on national TV, been recognized by Business and Arts South Africa (BASA), and I'm set to release my first short storybook in June 2025.

Fueled by purpose and community impact, I've moved away from traditional employment to build a platform that blends technology, African storytelling, and coding education.
